

This diagram shows the exploded view of a door latch assembly. The components include a latch bolt, a spring, a latch body, a door plate, and a strike plate. The latch bolt is shown inserted into the door plate, which is mounted on the door. The spring is shown attached to the latch bolt and the door plate. The latch body is shown attached to the door plate. The strike plate is shown attached to the door frame.

5217