

Date: November 9th , 2022

Customers and Partners

Subject: End of product life notification- ZUP product series

Dear customer / valued partner,

This notification applies to the ZUP product series, including all models.

1. Reason of discontinuance:

ZUP series orders have been declining over the past several years reaching low level. The low orders alongside the increasing cost of maintaining ZUP production due to increasing number of critical components EOL notifications and aging production equipment have reached to the point that declaring EOL of ZUP series is necessary after 23 years from its launch. Please refer to the below for the EOL schedule and recommendation for replacement.

2. Final purchase order receiving date and final shipping date:

- Last date for receiving new orders: Sep 1, 2023
- Last shipment date: Mar 31, 2024

3. Recommended replacement: ZUP series has been manufactured by TDK-Lambda since 1999. Over the past several years, the newer Z+ series gradually replaced ZUP, having improved performance, additional features and smaller footprint making it the recommended replacement for the ZUP series. Our sales and technical teams will continue to support any need during the EOL process.