To streamline Sensirion's differential pressure portfolio the SDP606 and SDP616 will be discontinued. The SDP606 and SDP616 are succeeded by the SDP8xx product platform. The SDP8xx has the same form factor, but its next generation flow chip enables higher flexibility and lower pricing.

To replace the SDP6x6 with the SDP8xx, no physical changes are required. The SDP8xx I²C command set is different and will require changes in the firmware. A benefit is that the SDP8xx has more features and measurement modes and thus can support more use cases.

An application note called "Replacing_SDP6x6_with_SDP8xx" is available on request.
